

The company knows or has reasonable cause to believe that there is no registrable person or registrable relevant legal entity in relation to the company.